Investigation Site	Stevington, St Mary's and Pavenham, Church Lane
Investigation Date	1 st April 2011
Report By	Stephanie Lawn
Team Members	Steph, Sam and Richard

Vigil 1: East of Church – 21:45 to 22:15

For the positions of the team members see the plan on the next page.

21:43 Sam hears a scuttling noise to her left.

21:45 Steph measures the temperature as +12°C.

Steph notes the conditions as very calm with a slight cool breeze. She can hear the sound of trickling water from the other side of the wall and sheep bleating.

21:47 Steph hears rustling coming from the undergrowth near the wall opposite. Sam asks Steph if she can hear it and she confirms she can.

Sam hears footsteps to her left, around the corner from where she is sitting.

21:52 Steph notes the rustling moves further along the line of the wall. She cannot see any dark shapes moving around and thinks it must be a small animal like a mouse.

Animal/s heard scurrying in the long grass by Richard, he was observed on several occasions throughout the vigil.

21:53 Sam hears what sounds like men talking, coming from her right but notes it is too faint to make out what they are saying.

Around this time Richard heard a man's voice from his right going "ohhh". This was from the area at the front of the church, although no other team member heard this.

21:54 Richard asks Steph and Sam if they heard anything to the right of where the team are conducting the vigil. Steph replies that she did not hear anything.

21:56 Steph hears what sounds like two men talking to her right, about southwest by south from where she is sitting. She could not make out any words, just mumbling and it sounded as if it was near the path to the church.

[Editors Note: During this vigil Team 1 was at the front of the church, in the direction from which the talking was heard, but at no time did they talk as the team sat a distance apart.]

21:59 Steph can smell tar.

22:00 In the same area at the front of the church (within the front gravestones to the right), a moving greyish/off white blob was seen by Richard, moving in a general right to left direction, towards the church boundary hedge. It was no definable shape, and keeping very low to the ground, no higher than the stones themselves.

22:02 Sam gets the names Mary John Parker and Elizabeth Corley or Cowley. At the same time she feels sick and light headed. She could also smell something sweet and sickly; a smell she had not smelt before.

22:07 Steph notes a much cooler breeze and measures the temperature as +11.5°C.

For the positions of the team members see the plan on the next page.

22:23 Sam asks the team if they can smell something like kerosene, Steph agrees she can and that it smells like an oil lamp.

22:34 Sam can sense that she is being watched over her right shoulder.

22:29 Steph measures the temperature as +12°C.

Investigation Date 1st April 2011

22:31 Richard noticed a shadow through the trees, from where the team was situated, looking across to the same set of gravestones to the right (where Richard saw the grey/white blob). One of three times during this second vigil, Richard picks up the name Mary along with a P as a surname, but nothing else.

22:23 Steph hears a loud 'squawking' sound and is unsure what kind of animal it is.

22:37 Richard picks up the name Mary and P again.

Investigation Date 1st April 2011

Around this time Richard's heart rate increased noticeably, and a feeling of apprehension every time he looks over to his right (same graveyard area.) but not to the left.

22:40 Sam gets the sense of a link with WWI and that it has something to do with the entrance to the church but the entrance is in a different place.

22:41 Steph experiences a sweet floral smell. She looks around but there are only trees and bushes. The smell is like being in a garden with lots of flowers.

22:42 Steph smells kerosene again.

Richard feels slightly nauseous, and has a headache, being around for most of the vigil, briefly got worse for a period of about 45 seconds.

22:43 Richard picks up the name Mary and P for a third time.

22:49 Steph hears the sound of a screeching animal, roughly west, which is very loud. Steph thinks she hears a man's voice in the same direction and the noise abruptly stops.
