

Broxbourne Wood

The sighting from this site dates back to 1792 where a man passing through the wood witnessed a woman in white robes who appeared to 'glitter' but every time he moved towards her she moved further away before disappearing. Locals called her the Devil/Witch of Broxbourne Wood. Some believed she was a local woman who ran away to avoid an unwanted marriage.