Telephone call Jan in Kettering 19.20

Year: 1959

Location: LMS building next to George 2 LUTON

Type: manifestation of Victorian policeman or soldier

Witness Jan reports her and her husband to be came out of George public house in 1959. The pub was then opposite the LMS building which had stood empty for some years previously. Next to the George was a red telephone box where Jan and her partner went for a snog as Jan puts it. While snogging Mick her partner she saw a mans face in the window opposite staring at them. She told Mick that a policeman was watching them and to turn around slowly. They could both make out that the man was wearing a helmet that had a spike on top of it and looked Victorian. They both decided to approach the man who appeared as a solid person to them. He continued to stare out of the window dead ahead his eyes did not move. They tried to speak to him with no response and then tried to wave in front of his face again this had no response. The couple became frightened and ran away and the figure was never seen again.

Year: 1953

Location: Denbigh High School

Type: Doppelganger

Jan was due to start at Denbigh High school and was invited to visit the school prior to starting. On the day of the visit she was in the girls toilets with the other girls who soon left. Jan was cleaning up and looking into the mirror. She could see her own face but noticed in the corner of the mirror another girl standing in the corner of the room. To her horror she saw the girl was exactly like her and thought the girl was her doppelganger. The girl disappeared an Jan ran out of the room looking for her even going outside and although scared Jan expected to see the girl in school when she started. However despite looking for the other girl she was never seen again.

Year: unknown

Location: Suffolk

Type: manifestation

Jan was in a house that was situated to a village close to an old Abbey. Al the house in the village had been built from the remains of the Abbey which King Henry 8th had destroyed. Anyway the house had an old fireplace and across the fireplace was an old beam from the Abbey. In the ceiling of the house was a coin rumoured to be also from the Abbey. The fireplace had two brick seats on either side of it and on the day in question her former husband Mick was seated on one side of the fire. Suddenly Mick informed Jan that opposite him seated on the other brick seat was an old man just sat there. Although Jan could see nothing Mick was adamant he was there for a short time.

Year: 1971

Location: unknown

Type: knocking sound

While heavily pregnant with her son. Jan was in the bedroom one day crying and when Mick asked her why. Jna explained it was because she would have liked Micks mother to have been aware that Jan was going to have a baby. (the mother having passed away some time before). Mick kept reassuring her that the Mother did know about the baby although Jan could not understand why he had said this. While in a state of upset Jan called out to the deceased mother to give them a sign that she was aware of the baby. Jan then states that an old heavy wardrobe nearby suddenly emitted a loud bang. This sound took place only once and Jan states no one was nearby.
