

Clophill Report by a member of public received 11/09/2021

I went to the local pub in Clophill one afternoon with a friend for some lunch and I started thinking about the church so I suggested to my friend that we went up there but we weren't clear where it was so we asked the guy at bar if he could tell us he told us to drive down and look for the pink house on the right and the dirt track was across the road on left so we went.

It was early afternoon, and it was lovely day when we got up there I didn't feel anything so we walked around the church and inside I had feeling that I needed to be alone so I said to my friend I'd see her back at car I walked down the couple of steps on the gravel into the church and I stood there and I just got this feeling like.

Electric. Charge going through my body. I said I know your there. I don't want to cause any harm. Show yourself. And then I heard footsteps. Behind me on the gravel. The feeling changed it was more threatening than anything like my senses told me to get out of there. I turned round no one was there. I felt like I was surrounded I got out of there got back to the car I told my friend we needed to go.

When I looked back at the church from car, I saw a dark figure. At the door. It bugged me for over week we back to a week later. And I got that feeling again like I had to be there something was telling me to go. We get to about 10pm and getting ready to leave. And., I said can she take me up there it was pitch black I got this feeling as we were driving up there something wasn't right, she turned the car round when we got to the church I looking in the wing mirror and I could see the church we sat there for 5 minutes. And I saw the mass again the feeling of dread and like something was going to happen all of sudden issue this black very fast coming towards the car at speed. We got out of there I surprised we didn't crash. I haven't been there since
