

Queen's Head Ampthill

Team 2 Site Report - 20th May 2005

Background Information

In the Lounge Bar shadows have been seen. There has also been some poltergeist activity. In the corner of the room there is a meter cupboard which should be avoided at all costs (high emf). The radio in the lounge kept turning itself on though the family believe that this, and maybe other activity, was due to one of the landlord's son's girlfriend. The same girlfriend also had a necklace taken. LPS member Jon Meyern has seen a shadow cross the lounge bar from the door by the bar to the door to the toilets. He was in the main bar when he saw the shadow.

In the corridor running past the kitchen and toilets there have been noted high and variable emf readings along with cold spots which seem to move around. At one end of the corridor is a small side access behind the two bars, here a presence has been felt which is believed to be that of a former landlord, Bill Savage.

In the bar the landlord's son photographed the spirit of a 17th century man, near to the piano, on his phone but the image was later erased accidentally. The family dog, Glen, has a habit of staring and barking at the corner where the photograph was taken. This area is part of the bar but used to be a corridor when the pub was the original three cottages. Things have also been sensed moving up and down this 'corridor'. The bar is the area in which most things seem to occur.

In the upstairs corridor footsteps have been heard. These have also been heard by LPS member Jon Meyern. In the upstairs living room the younger son reported cold feelings.

In the kitchen there has been some poltergeist activity.

One of the female bar staff has been slapped on the legs by an unknown, and unseen assailant in the lounge bar. The current landlord senses things in the pub but has not seen anything. When the landlord first moved in the first Sunday was so busy that he felt as if he regretted taking over the pub. As he sat exhausted at the end of the night he suddenly felt as if he had been given a psychic hug, after that things were better. The landlord feels that all of the spirits are friendly.

Bar

Room occupied from approximately 0100 to 0215. Room scanned no unusual emf readings. Emf meter left on table by pillar during whole vigil did not move from 2mG. Only occurrence was a shadow seen on the roof. I was sitting next to the pillar and saw the shadow in the mirror to the right of the piano. Light on roof was from chillers behind the bar and shadow could have been Glen, the dog, who was wandering around. Nothing else noticed during the vigil.
